

- The customer wanted forms that the client could fill out to meet their specific needs and requests.
- The customer requested a link to a page or website that provides information explaining what autism is and how it affects individuals.
- The customer wanted suggested/recommended donation amounts on the donation page of the website.
- The customer wanted their contact info on every page of the website.